

JCU Open Day Careers in Health

Thursday 17 September 2026 | 4 PM – 6.30 PM

The Yeinie Building is a new state-of-the-art teaching and research facility owned by James Cook University (JCU). Opened for teaching in January 2026, it serves as the cornerstone of the developing Far North Queensland Health and Innovation Precinct (Dugurrdja Campus).

The Yeinie Building is home to JCU's Nursing program, clinical training years of JCU's Medicine program and will soon accommodate Midwifery in 2027, creating a multidisciplinary environment that prepares students for modern healthcare practice.

The building's name, Yeinie, was gifted by Professor Henrietta Marrie AM and the Gimuy Walubara Yidinji People and honours a respected ancestor and warrior.
