OPENING THEMES AND TITLES

ANDREW GILF (Studio)
 Thanks for joining me. Last year, Four Corners covered a major report on the mafia in Australia - we called it "The Family Business".

ANDREW GILF (Studio)
 After tonight's report from Chris Masters, you may conclude that it's business as usual. Following our previous investigation of the National Crime Authority's... needed the permission of all State governments before it could proceed.

Some States agreed immediately - but Queensland only agreed after several months, and he detailed NCA's briefing - apparently from the chairman himself on a special trip to Brisbane.

Tonight's programme may give some clue as to why certain people in the Sunshine State - particularly in its police force - could be reluctant to have outside investigators probing their ranks.

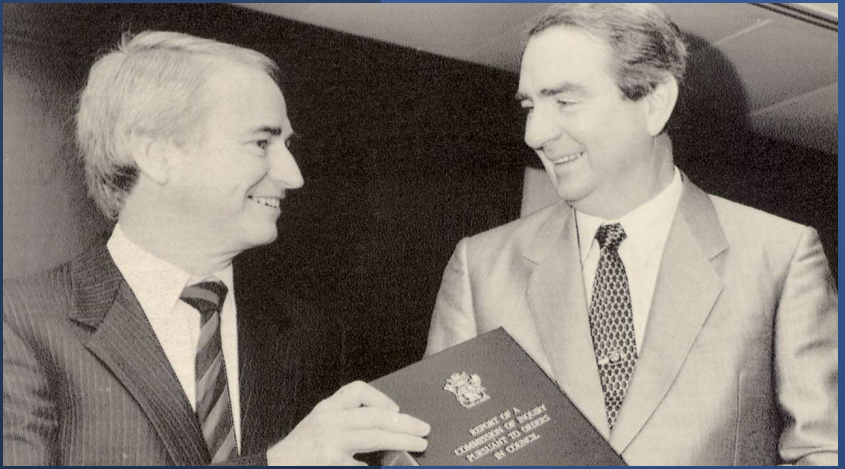

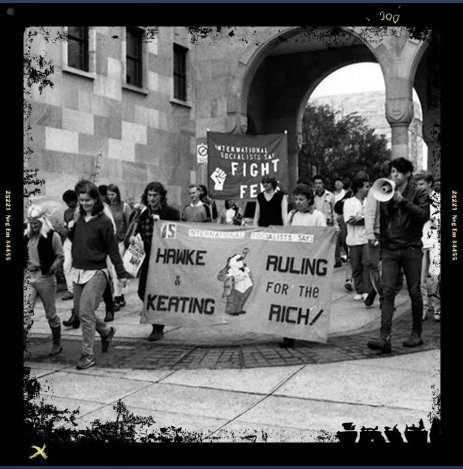

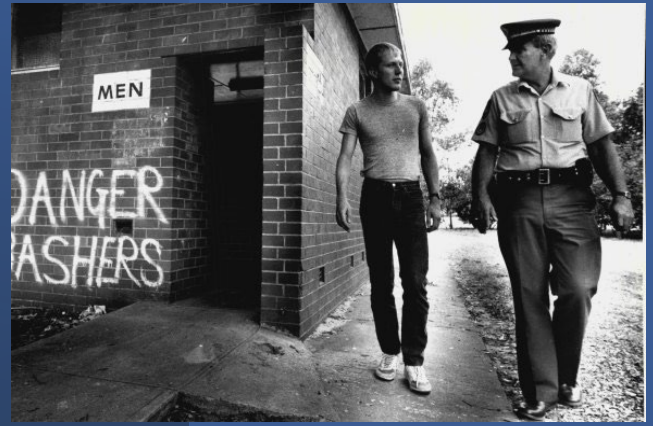

Four Corners pursued its enquiries without official cooperation and film crew was harassed and their equipment smashed - meet a Chris Masters in the Moonlight State.

CHRIS MASTERS (V.O.)
 There is another side to the Sunshine State. Despite some welcome attempts to prevent... the Queensland government has not managed to stop the devil at the bogger.

FILM - DAVID MITCHELL

CHRIS MASTERS (V.O.)
 In the Sunshine State, sex is a great little earner, there's a plentiful supply of fresh and... in Free enterprise Queensland there should be plenty of room for small business to capitalise on this sacred...
