FIVE REASONS TO DO AN MBA

1. Expand your network

In the world of business it's who you know as well as what you know. Studying an MBA at JCU can set you up with lifelong connections. This is your opportunity to establish an extensive business network including peers, academics, industry professionals.

2. Develop a multidisciplinary approach

Gone are the days when complex economic and managerial problems are solved with single discipline, linear-thinking mindsets. The world of business operates in a competitive and dynamic environment.

3. Refine your leadership skills

Develop management skills across the breadth of business-related areas, including people, financial, operational and change management, marketing, innovation and entrepreneurship, along with critical thinking and collaborative problem-solving.

4. Advance in management or change career

Many people pursue MBAs to increase their earning potential, advance to an executive level, change the industry they're working in or to commence their own business start-up.

5. Activate critical thinking

Within an MBA you'll be working alongside peers from diverse backgrounds, each with their own story to tell. Having diversity within the classroom will provide you with the opportunity to see problems from multiple perspectives.

"My professional development has benefited from the MBA in a number of ways, from applying new knowledge to my management role at the time to enabling me to think more strategically about the business. The lecturers connected us with emerging leaders in the business community, providing valuable network opportunities."

Aaron Newman

GROUP CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, QUEENSLAND COUNTRY BANK – QUEENSLAND COUNTRY HEALTH FUND
MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION ALUMNI

“The MBA at JCU was one of the best professional development experiences of my career. One of the best parts of this course was being able to tailor my learning directly into my workplace, so the educational experience was immediately relevant.

In a growing complex world, keeping abreast on how to best lead people is vital for businesses and organisations to thrive and the JCU MBA has been excellent for me in this regard.

I would highly recommend this program to anyone looking to further their professional development and learnings and lead their organisation into the future.”
